

The Mediocrity

October 17, 2017

A group at the Values Voter Summit cheered Trump's pronouncement that he's turning the country back. It doesn't matter to them that while they try to recapture the forties and fifties China's fast forwarding into the 21st century.

Nope, they're all crazy. They think they can ease their misery by returning to a time when POC and women "knew their place". They can't accept that we know our place and it's wherever and whatever we choose it to be. They are a sorry lot. Values, what values?
