Chuck Todd

Be Fair

I could write about any president. But lo and behold, the whole political world jumped at this question and the rest is history. Now, Mr. Todd could have phrased this question in a less accusatory or personal way, for example, “Do you think that all presidential candidates should release transcripts of all their paid speeches?” Doesn’t that sound less partisan? But he didn’t phrase the question that way because he wanted to put her on the defensive. Mr. Todd has continued to spew his opinions hiding behind the cloak of journalism. I am starting to take mental notes of his negative rhetoric, and time after time he reports non favorable excerpts concerning Secretary Clinton. He continues to give the little morsels of negative press on her to see what sticks. Check this out, remember this “Is Hillary Clinton afraid of the Bern?” “What is Hillary going to do if she loses New York,” even though she was always ahead in the polls, it should have been the other way around. Secretary Clinton was the presumptive nominee at that time. I am sick of Mr. Todd trying to derail Secretary Clinton with all these negative comments that he calls journalism. Mr. Todd reminds me of so many who in their minds were the greatest gift to themselves. They think just because they have an admirable position that they are intelligent and everyone else is beneath them. I’ve seen this many times. Mr. Todd hardly ever called out Senator Sanders for his total disrespect of Secretary Clinton. How he shouted all over her and put her down with the same old stories he’d shouted for months. Well Mr. Todd as a journalist why don’t you give equal time in reporting Mrs. Clintons positive attributes, her rise to power on her own accord, her stellar performance as a Senator, a First Lady, a Secretary of State, presumptive nominee and now Nominee of the Democratic Party. I have come to the conclusion, that you want Secretary Clinton to lose. You use code words like divisive, hate, not trustworthy etc. What do you expect if the basis of your reporting is filled with negative connotations to describe Secretary Clinton? Just be fair Mr. Journalist, just be fair.
