

What Happens To America if Donald Trump is Elected President

Set Ablaze of Wounds Healed?

Donald J Trump has been called many things during his campaign for the presidency: amoral, xenophobe, sexist, nativist, narcissist, liar, and philanderer. His nativist calls to make “America Great Again” have emboldened the racist element in the country to come out of their cover. Donald Trump, born to a naturalized citizen, his mother was born in Scotland in 1912, is not using the proverbial “dog whistle” but a giant “fog horn” that many are hearing as a call to make “America White Again.” Donald Trump has provided cover for all forms of racists to step up and out. They see the country becoming browner and they want to take it back. They see their majority power diminishing. They see immigrants taking their jobs. They see uppity young Blacks with the support of young people or every persuasion running around asking for the right to be treated as full citizens whose lives matter. They see the LGBTQ community demanding that their issues be included under the umbrella of civil rights. They are tired of lurking in the shadows and under rocks, seething and licking their wounds. The election of President Obama further aggravated them. But, it has been the lethal interactions between the police and young people of color that has forced the rest of the populace to accept that we do not live in a post racial country! Donald Trump is what they’ve been waiting for since the passage of the Civil Rights Act. Trump offers these racists the hope of regaining control of their America. I am an intelligent, informed and educated Black man and the negative emotions and racial divisions that he has stirred up are frightening.

Our citizens and our government stood by while the first Black President of our country, Barak Obama, was ridiculed, humiliated, scorned, and blatantly disrespected by those very white folks that Trump has invited into the mainstream. When the President was called a liar on national TV we stood by because the President told us to ignore their ignorance because he would use it against them to push his agenda for the country. The President used their irrational loathing, racism, and visceral hate to outwit them time and time again. In spite of the Republican intransigence President Obama passed landmark legislation that will lead to him being ranked as one of the most effective Presidents in the history of the country.

We now have to ask ourselves what happens to the country if Donald Trump is elected President. What will those racist do if the person who has called them out of the shadows becomes the leader of this wonderful country? The General Electorate now has to face this very important question and make a decision. There is a palpable unease in the country now that Trump is one win away from the Presidency. If he is elected, what will be the reaction of our minority population? Will they remain peaceful? Will a peaceful “Black Lives Matter” movement pivot and turn radical? Will young immigrants become radical? Will the cities of America go up in flames? How about the suburbs around those cities? The NRA has pushed guns into the hands of Americans to the tune of about 300 million and rising. Those guns are loaded and backed up by laws that make it easy to shoot and kill with impunity. Are you ready white America for the inevitable explosion when Trump becomes President and turns those fellow nativists, I mean racists loose on the non-white populations. Do you think that our minority populace will stand for a return to America’s racist and Jim Crow past? Will all of that built up resentment from the treatment that the President has endured, that minorities have endured throughout the history of this country push them to explode? The minorities of America will no longer settle for second class citizenship. They will not accept the country going back to the overt racism, segregation, and “Jim Crow” policies of the past. They have been under attack. They have started peaceful movements to say that everyone in this country deserves a place at the table, and yes they are ready to fight back!

So America, the ball is in your court. It is your decision to make. You can vote for Donald J. Trump and tear this country apart. The only question that will remain after a Trump win is how long will it take for the country to rip apart. So America, you decide what you are going to do on Election Day Tuesday November 8, 2016. Vote for Trump and maybe create a civil war or vote for Hillary and work with her to heal the wounds that Trump has opened. Let’s see how much you love this great country of ours – rip it apart or heal the wounds – your call.
